Why is information being collected?

The Business Intelligence Hub conducts regular surveys with the Talkabout citizens' panel. It is one of the ways people can influence what happens in York, and aims to give a representation of York's residents' views.

What information will be collected?

When recruiting panel members, we ask for personal information to ensure that the panel is representative of the community as a whole. We also use this information to get better insight into different communities' views.

The surveys we send ask for views on topics including life in York, your local area, problems you face as well as your opinions on different services delivered by the council.

The panel can also be invited to take part in consultations on other aspects of council services and policy. On such occasions these will have a separate privacy notice specific to the survey.

Participation is voluntary and you can choose to not answer any of the questions.
